Advice for Baillie Lodges Canada-based lodge: Clayoquot Wilderness Lodge

Advice for Baillie Lodges guests

It's wonderful to be able to travel again after a pause due to the pandemic and we're looking forward to welcoming you to stay at Clayoquot Wilderness Lodge. We have put together the following information as a guide for preparing to travel safely and as advice for action in case you or your companion tests positive to Covid-19 during a stay at Clayoquot Wilderness Lodge.

Please note it's each of our individual responsibility to stay up to date with current regulations and to act with the safety and wellbeing of fellow guests and the broader community in mind. Please see useful links below.

If you are travelling to Canada from overseas, information from the Government of Canada on travel to Canada can be found here. You must use ArriveCAN to provide mandatory travel information before and after your entry into Canada. Currently, all visitors to Canada must be fully vaccinated in order to gain entry.

For travel within Canada, the provincial and territorial specific requirements which vary across the country can be seen here. Masks are required to be worn at all times on flights.

Preparing to travel

Please note, it is highly recommended to have an up-to-date travel insurance policy which covers Covid-19 when travelling to or around Canada. Please ensure you have ready access to your electronic copy (on your phone) or paper of your current complete vaccination certificate. It's helpful please to also bring a personal supply of Rapid Antigen Test (RATs) for your trip in case you are feeling unwell.

In the interests of all travellers, we would appreciate it if you would complete a self-administered Rapid Antigen Test 24 hours prior to leaving home. If you are unwell please advise the Clayoquot Wilderness Lodge reservations team asap. We recommend not travelling if you are unwell.

Testing positive during your stay at Baillie Lodges

If you test positive to Covid-19 during your stay and you are fully vaccinated, you and your travel companions will need to complete a mandatory five-day isolation period and comply with the regulations issued by the British Columbia Centre for Disease Control here.

Note: If you test positive for COVID-19 and are fully vaccinated, you need to self-isolate at home for 5 days AND until your symptoms improve and you no longer have a fever. You do not need to be re-tested for COVID-19 to end your self-isolation period and return to your normal activities.

The Clayoquot Wilderness Lodge reservations team will assist you in securing your isolation accommodation and making any other travel arrangements as needed OR you can liaise with your travel agent for assistance.

Meals may be delivered to your suite and please liaise with the lodge team for housekeeping requirements as any washing can be bagged and left outside your door for collection.

Your travel insurance policy will be needed to cover any extra nights' accommodation at Clayoquot Wilderness Lodge. We can provide invoices for accommodation to assist with the claim. Please note Clayoquot Wilderness Lodge will not cover the cost of any other non-medical or medical costs associated with Covid-19, however the lodge team can assist with accessing medical assistance should it be needed.
